Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

DRESSED-UP HOUSE

The house was creaking and talking when all was quite at night.

"At the Head of the Stairs."

Little Peter Gnome was sitting at the head of the stairs and then he ran down and sat on the big rug in the center of the hall so he could hear all that the house had to tell him.

"You see," the house began, "there was a party today. Oh, it was a splendid party. Ever and ever so many children came to it."

"I can't tell you how I enjoyed myself. Perhaps some people think a house doesn't enjoy itself. Well, in its own way it does, I can tell you."

"Now, I'm a wooden house and I enjoy a party in my wooden fashion. We certainly can be marked or scratched and so that shows you that we have feelings. But anyway I want to tell you about the party for I know I don't have to tell you about our feelings. I'm sure you understand."

"Oh yes," said Peter Gnome, "I know you have feelings."

"Why, I was looking behind one of the curtains today, dressed in my costume which none can see, and I could tell how happy you are. Why, house, you were smiling all over yourself. And, house, I've seen you said, oh, so sad, when there was sickness. And when you were afraid. House, you've been afraid at times, haven't you?"

"Oh yes," said the house, "and oh, the relief that comes when that fear is over."

"It is sickness that makes me afraid, nothing else," the house continued, "and we had some bad sickness last year. That was when you saw me afraid, I am sure."

"That was the time," said Peter Gnome, "Oh, it was so wonderful when that quietness that comes over me when there is sickness was lifted. I couldn't help but be quiet, Peter Gnome. I was just as quiet as quiet could be. I didn't feel like smiling. I didn't feel like anything."

"I couldn't have stood it if people then had made a great noise. But as a rule I love noise. And oh, Peter Gnome, how I love laughter. To hear laughter through my great halls and rooms and from the cellar to the garret is so wonderful. But I wanted to tell you about the party and about my dressing up for it. You were here, did you say? Did you see me?"

"I was just here for a moment," said Peter Gnome. "I just saw you smiling. Tell me about it all."

"Well," said the house, "they dressed me up. Yes, every part of me was dressed up. First of all I was cleaned so beautifully. Oh, I was as sweet and clean as ever a house could be, and every part of me was dusted and polished and I did look so spick and span and so shining and fine."

"I just felt so clean and polished and you know it's a beautiful feeling. Then flowers were put all about, and best things were brought out and lovely ferns decorated my corners, and flowers—well—when I said flowers were put all about, I was speaking the truth."

"Everywhere there were flowers. And how they did improve my appearance. They made me smile, the lovely things, helping me to look so fine. Then the children's voices were so gay and merry and the grown-ups seemed to be so cheery and no one scolded and no one was cross and everything was just perfect. And then, Peter Gnome, I received such beautiful compliments. You should have heard the people who said: 'Doesn't the house look too lovely for words?'"

"Yes, they thought I was too lovely for words!"

"Now, that was pretty fine, wasn't it? And they said I was so beautiful a house and that I dressed up so handsomely and that I was worth spending some time over fixing up, and just any number of magnificent compliments."

"And you deserved every one of them, house," said Peter Gnome. "You've done your part in giving happiness and you deserve all the praise you get."

And the house creaked a very happy "thank you."

Just What Did It?

"I understand you are at the foot of the spelling class, Tommy."

"Yes, dad."

"Well, how did it happen?"

"I put too many s's in scissors."

(© 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

When it comes to the riches of mind and soul you say that you are a millionaire. To be such a millionaire would certainly be worth while, and here we had a new ambition.

SEASONABLE GOOD THINGS

When plums are in their prime try the following: Wipe carefully ripe, sound plums. Place the fruit in a stone jar, adding one-quarter of a pound of sugar for each pound of plums. Place the jar in boiling water and cook until tender. Remove the stones and put the fruit through a colander; return to the jar and add one-half pound of sugar for each pound of fruit (original weight) and continue to cook until thick and almost dry. Put into jars, seal, and keep in a cool place. Cut in slices and eat on toast or bread. Other fruits may be served in the same way.

Carrot Sauce.—Select medium-sized carrots, wash and scrape them; cover with boiling water and cook until tender. Drain and mash, adding salt to taste and two tablespoonfuls of butter. Cook a teaspoonful of flour in the butter until brown, then add the carrots and blend well. When this is done add one and one-half cupfuls of sweet milk and simmer ten minutes. Season with pepper and paprika and pour over broiled fish, adding more salt if needed.

To prepare jams or jellies from fruits which lack pectin, take the peeling of an orange, white inner lining and all; cook for a few minutes to remove the white, which is the part that holds the pectin, cover with water and cook slowly for an hour, reducing the liquid to three-quarters or half a cupful. Add a few tablespoonfuls of this to the juice which will not jell and it will thicken. Keep the pectin well corked and it will be ready to use. Commercial pectin may be purchased, but this may be prepared at home when oranges are plentiful.

Pineapple Sandwiches.—Cook one cupful of shredded pineapple with three-quarters of a cupful of sugar and the juice of half a lemon. Cook until thick. When cold spread on halved sponge drops and press together, sandwich fashion. Serve with an iced drink.

Cottage Cheese and Lettuce.—Heap seasoned cottage cheese mixed with a few spoonfuls of salad dressing on lettuce. Sprinkle with chopped nuts, chili and serve.

Nellie Maxwell

Virtues Ascribed to Gems.

The old custom of wearing a ring to hold a necktie in place originated in 1470, when the duke of Burgundy wore his signet ring on a ribbon around his neck. Many were the virtues ascribed to gems. Amethysts were supposed to ward off effects of too frequent libations, diamonds gave the wearer virtue, courage and magnanimity; opals shining in the charms of every stone of which they reflected the color, if stolen, rendered the thief invisible, while topaz and chrysolite lost brilliance if dipped in poison, a highly important quality in an age when one could not tell friend from foe.

Poison Cure for Rheumatism.

Forty-seven rattlesnakes captured at Black's creek, about twelve miles from Boise, Idaho, have been sent by Robert Lambert to the Dutch government for experimental work. The Dutch government is perfecting a serum which, when combined with the poison from rattlesnakes and injected into the muscles will, it is claimed, cure rheumatism. Lambert said. It took less than an hour and a quarter to bag the reptiles. They were found in a space 20 feet square. Lambert stated that the removal of the fangs does not, as commonly believed, render a snake harmless, for other fangs will grow in about three weeks.

Defining the Sex.

Little Evelyn was in the grocery store with her baby brother Billy the other day. A man went by and spoke to Billy. The baby did not answer, whereupon the gentleman said to Evelyn, "She won't speak to me today." Evelyn proudly answered, "She ain't a her; he's a him."

Too Firm.

A dispatch records that the money market in the metropolis is very firm—a statement with which we are in perfect accord. In fact, so far as we personally are concerned, the money market is firm to the point of obstinacy.—Buffalo Express.

Bobby Jones

Robert T. ("Bobby") Jones, the 21-year-old Atlanta (Ga.) amateur, who won the national open golf championship at Inwood, L. I., in a sensational match with "Bobby" Cruickshank, youthful professional, is shown receiving the cup that is emblematic of the American golfing championship. Jones thus supplants Gene Sarazen, to whom he played a close second last year. Left to right, "Bobby" Jones, Wynant D. Vanderpool, Vice-President United States Golf Association; A. T. Steiner, of the Inwood Club, and "Bobby" Cruickshank.

Wide Latitude in Choice of Styles

Recent Modes Allow Each Woman to Dress to Suit Her Own Taste.

No fixed or absolute rules govern the fashion for the summer of 1923. A fashion correspondent in the New York Tribune. One has wide latitude in the choice of styles. This allows each woman to dress according to her individual taste, but supplies her with such delightful inspiration in the choice of particular models that she can fall to be guided by it.

The very simple chemise frock in a soft shade with only a touch of a light color is quite correct as is also the elaborately draped, tightly fitted dress which clings to the figure. The Second Empire silhouette is also in vogue, and the 1920 pert bustle is still to be seen. The skirt is now subtly full by godet plaits in the hips, and split skirts, paneled skirts and many-tiered skirts all give a new variety.

Printed silks, chiffons and georgettes are universally fashionable, and afternoon frocks they often have a dark blue as their background.

Summer Frock Made of Printed Chiffon Voile With Ribbon Cockade Trimming.

which renders them practicable. While dark blue is the favorite, hots de rose are very smart, as is also almond green, Havana brown and grey.

Bodices and sleeves are variable. In many houses the waistline has remained its natural place. Waistbands are usually placed just above the hips. Greek is advancing the Greek waistline, which is charming in her classic models. Sleeves are as many as imagination and individual taste can create. The tight upper sleeve with very full lower portion, either loose or tight to the wrist, is good. Plain, light sleeves, tiny lingerie sleeves and puff sleeves are to be seen, as well as dresses with no sleeves at all. The rule is to make the sleeve individual regardless of how it is done.

Lighting Arrangement for Family Comfort

In the bedroom the lighting fixtures should be placed on each side of the sleeping table space. If this is not possible one light should be placed in the wall just above the mirror. If the door is a mirror in it a light should be placed directly above it (on the wall). These lights cannot be placed on each side of it as suggested for the dresser. Each side of the bed space should be provided, or, in lieu of this, bedside brackets should be placed conveniently so that a reading lamp may be used. In the dining room there should be, as just stated, a central chandelier with downward-facing globes (the best arrangement is excellent) placed at such an elevation that there is no glare in the eyes of the diners. A sleeping porch should be provided with a light at the head of the bed. In the various rooms, sockets should be provided for vacuum cleaners, electric irons and electric fans.

Jewelry Novelties.
Among new novelties in jewelry are the ribbon earrings. They are made of a long piece of narrow ribbon wound into a small cylinder shape and having pointed ends, one end being caught by the gold or silver mounting which fastens to the ear and from which the ribbon ornament hangs as a tassel. One can easily match one's earrings to one's costume by using the color of ribbon. Flared ribbon especially effective made into drops, they appear to have an engraved design upon them.

For Wee Party Frocks.
Little segments of accordion-plaited de Chine are to be seen on many of the party frocks for children. The plaiting is very fine, and set here and there about the neck, sleeves and hem. For children: sometimes have long ends hanging over one shoulder.

Believe It or Not.
It is lucky to hear the cuckoo on the 17th of April, and foretells early marriage, and also fortunate to see the moon if you are with your lover. Put your money in your pocket tonight at the moon and wish, and your wish will be fulfilled.

According to late reports, Trotsky has lost hope of a proletarian revolution in the United States. Only the fanatic's ability to see what he wants to see could have furnished basis for his hope in the first place.

New Jersey fruit growers announce that hereafter the top layer on the basket will be no better than the layers underneath. A great reform—provided the middleman doesn't interfere and the consumer gets the basket as first packed.

Collier's ought to have asked for and published the past political party affiliations of its straw balloters who give Ford 73 724 votes to only 45,596 for Harding. That would have made the showing both more interesting and more significant.

PACIFISM IN JAPAN.

Those who imagined that when the "yellow peril" sweeps westward it will be led by militaristic Japan were amazed to read recently that the Japanese government had ordered all references to military achievements and all "narrowly patriotic" utterances be deleted from school books. Now comes the equally surprising report that the Japanese pacifists are not only in the saddle but seem to be riding to triumph. We read that last May the Japanese Association for the Study of Military Science attempted to hold its inaugural session in a university auditorium in Tokyo an overwhelming majority of pacifist students disrupted the meeting with shouts of "Down with the militarists," and "Bring your murderers on the platform." Such heckling continued until the meeting was forced to break up.

Even the Vice Minister of War was greeted with the cry that blood was dripping from his decorations, and the determined students drowned the voices of all who attempted to speak by uproariously singing, "Thousands Die to Raise One Hero to Fame." A leading Japanese daily described the outbreak as "a rude shock to the Japanese people," but nevertheless denounced the Association for the Study of Military Science as an "inappropriate and inopportune undertaking," and admitted, "I saw in the students' protest 'conclusive evidence of the unpopularity of soldiers among the Japanese.'" Others papers note "the alarming changes that have come over the ideas of Japan's rising generation." At this distance it looks as if the Japan of today, instead of indulging dreams of world-conquering, is more than half pacifist.

RETROGRESSION "AT THE TOP."

It is not merely a boast but a practically universal article of faith that twentieth century enlightenment and civilization, especially among English-speaking peoples, is far in advance of all that preceded. Such self-satisfaction receives a pretty rude shock from the Romanes lecture delivered at Oxford this year by Prof. John Burnet, who, taking "ignorance" for his subject and expressing the fear that the civilized world may be facing another Dark Age, said in part: "The nineteenth century had a simple faith in the progress of knowledge and enlightenment, but we now know too much history to have any assured confidence in that. There have been Dark Ages before, and they have generally supervened on periods when knowledge of a sort has been more widely distributed than ever. So far as we can see, the decay has always set in at the top. It can not be denied that there are warnings and portents at the present day such as have before now heralded an Age of Darkness."

Though the young men of the present are on the whole healthier in body and more intelligent than those of his own generation, in the view of Professor Burnet, he nevertheless asserts as a certainty that they are absolutely and relatively more ignorant than those of forty years ago, and, worse still, they have less curiosity and intellectual independence. Every university teacher in the country knows, he declares, that the educational authorities have had to lower their standard of teaching and examination progressively for the last thirty years in every department except the physical and natural sciences—a sure sign, he might have added, of the steady advance of materialism and the decline of idealism. Though this may not indicate the near approach of another Dark Age, certainly it would seem to imply intellectual retrogression "at the top."

What do you want to know about Nature Subjects? Send any questions of general interest to the Nature Notes Department of this paper, enclosing self-addressed and stamped envelope for reply.

Can You Answer These Questions?

1. What states of the United States still have wolves?
2. About how many eggs do toads lay?
3. Do birds depend on their bills for fighting weapons?

Answers in Tomorrow's Nature Notes.

Answers to Previous Questions.

1. Can snake bite be used? We know of one snake, anyway, the Elephant trunk snake of Siam and the Malay region, whose skin is used by native inhabitants to make into drum heads. The snake's common name comes from the resemblance of its clumsy body to an elephant's trunk.
2. Does the common gull feed on herring, and is that why they call it herring gull? The gull Larus argentatus, which is "common" in many sections, feeds on food refuse thrown from ships, and also small fry that may be swimming near the surface. Gulls have the habit of flocking in noisy squabbling groups whenever any food is discovered, and as shoals of herring have undoubtedly always been a tempting bait to assemble, the gulls earned the name of "herring" gull.
3. If vegetables are sprayed with Paris green, why doesn't it poison people who eat them? Because the amount of poison on each is not enough to kill a human. Vegetables are washed and stripped of their outer coating, anyway, as a usual thing; but taking cabbage as an example, it is estimated that 28 whole cabbages would have to be consumed to get enough Paris green—if they had been ordinarily sprayed—to harm a human.

COVER NEW DIRECTOR OF INDUSTRIAL HYGIENE

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, July 18.—State Industrial Commissioner Bernard L. Shindler today announced the appointment of Dr. Leland E. Cofer of New York City as director of the Division of Industrial Hygiene of the State Department of Labor. Dr. Cofer has been an officer in the United States Public Health Service for over 30 years and has served two terms as assistant surgeon general of the United States, a position he was filling when he was assigned by the United States Public Health Service as health officer of the port of New York.

Dr. Cofer's service in the past has been associated with the development of hygiene and public health regulations. For nearly six years he has been a member of the Board of Health of the city of New York and is now a member of the Public Health Committee of the New York Academy of Medicine. His appointment is in line with Commissioner Shindler's policy of reorganizing the Division of Industrial Hygiene of the Labor Department so as to enable him to carry on more effectively its important task of minimizing health and accident hazards in industry.

DAUGHERTY MOVES TO DISSOLVE HARVESTER TRUST

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, July 18.—The federal government squared away today for another legal battle with the International Harvester Company. Five years ago the courts held that the corporation was a combination in restraint of trade and ordered it dissolved. Attorney General Daugherty believes, however, that this dissolution has not been accomplished according to law and he has asked the federal court at St. Paul, Minn., to order the concern reorganized into three separate corporations, with separate stockholders and directors.

ALABAMA NOT TO BAN CONVICT LEASING

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Montgomery, Ala., July 18.—Efforts of prison reform advocates to abolish the Alabama convict labor system seemed destined to failure today with two of the measures to that end sidetracked and a bill providing for the end of the system in three years defeated in the senate.

By a vote of 20 to 13 the senate passed a resolution making it the sense of the legislature that no change be made in the present system. The resolution had been passed in the lower house by a large majority.

FRUIT SCIENTISTS TO MEET IN N. Y.

The American Pomological Society, of which Liberty Hyde Bailey of Ithaca, N. Y., is president, has accepted the invitation of the Merchants Association of New York and the Eastern Apple Exposition and Fruit Show to hold its next annual meeting in New York city November 6th 7th and 8th. Word as to the decision of the Pomological Society to meet there has just been received by the Eastern Apple Exposition Committee from R. B. Cruikshank, of Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio, secretary of the society.

The meeting of the American Pomological Society together with the Eastern Apple Exposition and Fruit Show which is to be held at the Grand Central Palace from November 3rd to 10th, will bring together the leading scientific fruit growers of the entire country according to Thomas E. Cross, chairman of the committee of Eastern Apple Growers which has charge of the plans of the apple show. "This will be the largest assembly of eastern apple growers ever held," Mr. Cross states. "The joint program which is being worked out by the Pomological Society and the Eastern Apple Exposition Committee will include discussions by the foremost fruit specialists of the country on problems of standard grading, nomenclature of varieties and marketing and distribution, as well as growing of fruit."

The Eastern apple growers have been very backward in working together to accomplish better methods of distribution, and it is expected that this joint meeting of the Eastern Apple Growers with the Pomological Society will be of great educational value to all fruit growers in the east. Other national organizations and horticultural societies of eastern states will be asked to hold meetings in New York city in conjunction with the Apple Exposition. The plans for this exposition are going forward rapidly and in addition to the exhibits of fruit grown in eastern states arrangements have already been made for a number of trade exhibits by industries connected directly or indirectly with the fruit growing industry.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Comfortable "Smock."

4415. This model reflects the most popular of this season's dresses for young girls. It has a comfortable raglan sleeve, which may be finished in wrist or elbow length, and a jaunty collar. Dotted percale with facings of white linen is here illustrated.

The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. A 10 year size requires 2 1/2 yards of 32 inch material. Collar and sleeve facings of contrasting material require 3/8 yard.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

ANTHIAN STATE CONVENTION SOON

The Knights of Pythias of the State of New York will hold their annual Grand Lodge Convention at Falls N. Y. during the week ending Monday, July 24 until Tuesday, July 25. This is the fifty-fifth annual convention of this order and is expected to be a very lively one, inasmuch as for the first time in the history of the order, New York reports the largest gain in membership.

Feature of this convention will be the working of the Rank of Page, the first degree of this order, upon the candidates, known as the "Knights of the Rank of Page." Among the prominent Pythians who will attend will be the Supreme Grand Chancellor of the Pythias, Past Grand George C. Cabell; Past Grand William Ladew; Past Grand Chancellor William J. Park; Past Grand Vice-Chancellor Isaac Mendelsohn; Past Grand Director of Prohibition Palmer A. D. Smith; Past Grand Representative, Supreme Tribune William H. Ross; and Charles M. Horwitz, Chairman of the Education Committee.

MORE GIRLS MAY CAMP NEXT WEEK

This week Camp Oonters at Ideal Park, the Girl Scout Camp, is filled with the tent flaps, but next week it will be possible to take a few more girls, so if there are others who would like to enjoy the fun and wholesome camp life they should at once apply to Scout Commissioner, Miss Martha Davis, 74 John street, telephone 1632.

Here's the Way the Days Go By:

7:00 a. m.—Jerk.
7:40 a. m.—Colors.
8 a. m.—Breakfast.
8:30 a. m.—Camp capers (Scouts out camp in order).
9:15 a. m.—Tents put in order.
9:45 a. m.—Inspection.
10:30 a. m.—Court of honor.
10:30-12 m.—Scout clubs.
12 m.—12:30 p. m.—Free time.
12:30 p. m.—Dinner.
1 p. m.—Canteen and library.
2:30 p. m.—Rest hour.
3 p. m.—Swimming.

9 p. m.—Tattoo.
9:15 p. m.—Taps.

Miss May Davis, dietitian, has prepared and arranged the menus for a week at a time for all meals, with a view of giving the Scouts good, wholesome, nourishing food, and yet a balanced ration such as a growing girl enjoying and participating in all the camp activities needs.

WICKETT LECTURES AT SAHLER SANITARIUM

The Rev. Anita Trueman Pickett, teacher and lecturer at the Sahler Summer School this week, had as her subject for this morning's class, "Soul, Mind and Sense." Thursday morning her subject will be, "Man in Paradise," and the lesson Friday morning, the last lesson of the week, will be "From Innocence to Purity." Thursday evening, Mrs. Pickett will address her audience on "The Passion of Patience." This will also be the last of her series of evening lectures. There has been an increasing number at each lecture, which proves the popularity with which Mrs. Pickett's presence has brought to the school.

The evening diversion for the second week of the school will be the concert Wednesday evening, which has already been brought to the minds of the people.

These lectures and entertainments are free, and a cordial invitation is extended to all.

SAILOW DROWNS TRYING TO SAVE COMPANION

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, July 18.—The body of John F. Kelly who was drowned off New York Beach, Staten Island, on July six while trying to save John McLaughlin, a fellow sailor on the water boat Raider, was to be shipped to Syracuse, N. Y., today for burial. The body was saved from the water by Potter's field by the arrival of Arthur La Montagne, brother-in-law of Kelly, who read in the newspaper of the man's death. La Montagne lives at 345 Winter Place, Syracuse. He said Kelly had been honorably discharged from the navy and that he had a $5,000 life insurance policy. He left home a year ago and had not written to his sister since that time.

SHOW FRUIT RIGHT TO GET PREMIUMS

Uniformity in Size, Color and Shape Important to Orchardist Who Would Win Ribbons.

In every county a lot of fine fruit never gets to the fairs, with the result that visitors do not get a real picture of fruit conditions in the section, and the growers do not get the prizes to which they are entitled.

To encourage more growers to show their fruit at fairs, the fruit men at the college of agriculture at Ithaca have prepared some suggestions on making up exhibits.

First of all, the Cornell men say, the individual specimens in a plate of apples, pears, or any other fruit, should be carefully selected. They should be uniform in size, color and shape. Even the stems, which must always be left on, should be similar. The markings on the calyx, or blossom end should be as nearly alike as it is possible to find and so with those around the stem. The specimens selected should be typical of the variety, and not over-large or under-sized. High color is of great importance for the colored varieties. It is not advisable, however, to use one or two highly colored specimens on a plate with the others of only medium color.

Freedom from blemishes is a "premium plate" need. A fruit with a worm hole, scab spot, scale, spray injury, frost injury, limb rub or any other defect should never be put on a plate competing for a premium. Insect and fungus injury are more serious than frost or spray injury or limb rub.

Sometimes it may seem necessary to use a fruit with a slight defect, such as a tiny limb rub or a small spot showing frost injury or a very minute healed-over sting. The exhibitor should realize when such a fruit goes on a plate, the chances are the judge will find it.

Allowance is always made for varieties which are out of season, however; those which have been best kept stand the best chance for a premium. It is advisable always to have one or more specimens of a variety than constitute a "plate," so that if harm comes to any, substitutes may be supplied.

The individual fruits should be wrapped in paper, and carefully handled to avoid bruising or rubbing off of the bloom.

STRAIGHT BACKS MEAN MUCH LESS FATIGUE

Making Kitchen Tables Right Height Boon to Housewife.

Keep the back straight and do your work with less fatigue, is one suggestion made by home economists at the state college at Ithaca.

They say that nature's bending places are the hip joints and knees. If the strain is put on the back undue fatigue will follow. In leaning somewhat forward, as in sweeping, in washing, in all kitchen table work—kneading bread, rolling pie crusts, preparing vegetables, and washing dishes, the movement should be from the hips, keeping the back in nearly the same position in which it is when one stands easily erect.

In stooping to pick up something from the floor, the knees should bend and the large muscles of the legs should carry the body and arms down within reach of the object desired.

To avoid undue strain even when one bends forward in the right way, kitchen tables, ironing boards, sinks, and washbasins should be made considerably higher than they usually are. Tables should be made to fit the women who work at them, instead of women having to fit their height to tables.

If two women of marked difference in height must use the same table it is much better for the shorter woman in her work to reach somewhat upward than for the taller woman to stoop to any considerable degree. If necessary, the short woman may stand on a stool.

COLONIALS, 1; TANNERSVILLE, 0

"Chad" See and Coyle Hit Safely in Opening Frame Accounting For Single Score—McCue and Schwab Make Good Catchers.

The Colonial baseball team treated the fans of Tannersville Tuesday to real baseball when they defeated the home team 1 to 0. Rube Forsythe was in the box for the locals and he pitched a steady game, allowing six hits. Coyle, the opposing pitcher, allowed 10. The Colonials now stand one game ahead of the Mountaineers, 2 to 1.

Two new players were in the local club's line-up. Joe Start, took Russell's place at short and "Chad" See played left field in Dunn's stead. Both these players did themselves credit in their first appearance in a Colonial line-up. Start had seven chances and made good. He also got a single. See made good on his chance in the field and came in for two hits also scoring the only run of the game.

McCue made a beauty stop that looked a hit that would have scored a run. Bill Schwab also comes in for special mention for his marvelous catch.

LEONARD LAUGHS AT 1923 "JINK"

He's Fit and Trim and Says He's One Champion That Will Come Through—"Just Beginning to Fight"—He Answers Question About Retiring.

Tannersville, N. Y., July 18.—For a champion who is about to defend his title against admittedly his most dangerous contender, in a year that has seen the eclipse of a number of other champions, Benny Leonard today is unusually carefree and exuberant.

To say he is confident of the outcome of his bout with Low Tandler at the Yankee Stadium in New York next Monday would be superfluous. As well one might say the Woolworth Building is tall, or some equally obvious fact.

"Of course I will win," Leonard said and then explained his showing in his bout with Tandler in July of last year.

"You know southpaws are very peculiar. For instance if you write with your right hand and all your life, it is hard and takes time before you can accustom yourself to write with your left. I've been fighting right handed all my life and the first time I fought Tandler I was a bit confused and puzzled.

"But I have had a year's time to scheme out the tactics of a southpaw. I know how they fight and I know how Tandler fights. Tandler is a good strong fellow. He is no easy man to beat and will take plenty of punishment. But still I will beat him.

Leonard has not been given over to extravagant promises in the past. But his confidence was based on a knowledge of his opponent's ability and his own physical condition. The champion appeared trim and fit. The many weeks he has been working in his open camp in this Catskill resort, favored with every natural advantage, have added in rounding him to the peak of physical perfection.

"I feel fine, better than I have felt in a long time. I am in great shape. Today I weigh 136 pounds and it won't be a difficult matter for me to make the prescribed weight of 133 pounds on the afternoon of the fight."

Leonard laughed when he was reminded that 1923 has been a "jinx" year for champions, has witnessed the passing of Johnny Kilbane and Jimmy Wilde and the losing of prestige by Jack Dempsey.

"Well I've thought about that," he admitted. "But you can tell my friends that Leonard is one champion that will get by."

In his fight with Ritchie Mitchell and his last bout with Tandler, Leonard was in bad straits but is said to have saved himself by talking his opponents out of their advantage.

The writer asked him about this, particularly of the 8th round of his fight with Tandler. In this fight, it will be recalled, Leonard is supposed to have talked the Philadelphia out of the fight after Tandler had him groggy with a terrific punch to the jaw.

"Why, that is all foolish," Leonard exclaimed. "If I was in such a groggy condition as they say I was, then I could not very well have been in condition to talk to him. He clipped me a good punch on the jaw. I said to him 'that was a good punch, Lou.' But as for talking him out of the fight that is foolish."

The champion ridiculed reports that he was doing secret training.

"It's funny how those rumors start," he said. "It rained here one or two days and I could not work in the open as I had been doing. So I pitched my ring in the ball room of a hotel here. The place was so small that not many people could come in. Only a few were able to see me work and as a result it was reported I was training behind closed doors."

Leonard said he had no intention of retiring after the Tandler bout. "Nothing of the sort," he said. "I'm only starting. Why I'm only a young kid, yet."

He added he intended to engage in a vigorous campaign after the fight with Tandler and possibly go over to England to do some fighting there.

DODECANESEANS, QUOTA FILLED, ARE TURNED DOWN

By Telegram to the Freeman.

New York, July 18.—The Dodecanesian population of the United States will not be increased this year, the immigration authorities stated today.

For the benefit of those who are not familiar with the Dodecanesians it may be stated that they are residents of an island in the Aegean sea, but whether they are Turks or Greeks has not yet been officially decided by the powers.

The Dodecanesian Islands are claimed by both Greece and Turkey. In order to avert discussion upon the question the immigration authorities labelled Dodecanesians as "Asiatics." There were 88 of them on the way to this country when it was discovered that the quota for Asiatics was filled so a wireless despatch was sent to the steamship to put the Dodecanesians off at the Azores. They will have to wait till next year before they can come to America.

LEAGUE MILK FOR JUNE 1915

A statement sent out by the Dairy-men's League News in New York says:

The Dairy-men's League Cooperative Association, Inc., announces a net pool price to its members for June milk, of $1.915. This is the price paid for 100 pounds of 2 per cent milk at the base zone of 201-210 miles from New York city. The price which individual dairymen will receive will vary as usual according to butter fat and other established differentials.

This announcement carries with it a message of encouragement to every member of the pooling association. It practically establishes a new record for June milk since it is $.57 above the net pool price of June 1922 and $.495 above the price paid in June 1921. It is $1.015 above the price received by dairymen in this territory for June milk in the pre-war year of 1913.

One of the principal reasons given for this favorable return to pooling dairymen on June milk is the large percentage of milk handled in the plants operated by the association in class 1, which includes fluid milk sold as such in the fluid milk markets of the territory. Another reason is that the association is realizing more for milk marketed in classes 2-A and 2-B than in class 3, that is, milk sold in the form of sweet cream, condensed and evaporated milk, and ice cream.

While this price doesn't yet represent the cost of production, nevertheless, it is considerably nearer to the cost of production than the price of June a year ago, which fact is a very encouraging piece of news to the members of the association.

The record of the association prices since the beginning of its present fiscal year, April 1, indicates that the pooling organization is making substantial progress and has already reduced to quite an extent the so-called "spread" or difference in price between what the pooler received and what the non-pooler or outsider receives.

CAMP TISKILWA IN FIRST PERIOD

Twenty Seven Scouts Enjoying Delights of Camp Life and Doing the Work Laid Out by Scout Executive.

(By the Boy Scout Camp Reporter.)
Chichester, July 18.—The 1923 Summer Camp Tiskilwa season was inaugurated with the arrival of 27 scouts on Thursday, June 12th, last.

These twenty-seven scouts with Mr. and Mrs. Nesslage, George Coons and Group Leaders Herman Nesslage, Mortimer Lester and David Graham make up the personnel of the first period, and are setting an example in every line of activity which will stand as a mark for succeeding periods to shoot at.

Weather conditions have been very favorable and all the campers have taken advantage of the opportunity to "put one over."

From the very beginning of the opening session, the rivalry between the three camp patrols has been intense. The patrols are well balanced, the lack in one line being more than offset by the advantage held in some other line.

The camp roster follows:
G. Henry Nesslage, camp director.
George Coons, associate director and chef.

Mrs. G. H. Nesslage, camp mother.

Wolf Patrol.

Herman H. Nesslage, leader.
1. Arthur Byrne.
2. Charles Hurley.
3. Eugene Hickey.
4. Alfred Lynch.
5. William Dugan.
6. Joseph Dulin.
7. John Quest.
8. Richard Dulin.
9. Mason Mufson.

Eagle Patrol.

Mortimer Lester, leader.
1. Leo Doheny.
2. Carl Fixley.
3. Arthur J. Burns, Jr.
4. Kenneth Palen.
5. John Gallagher.
6. Jack Lucas.
7. Leo McGrath.
8. Donald Longyear.

Flying Eagle Patrol.

David A. Graham, leader.
1. Alfred Coons.
2. Erwin Coons.
3. Paul Coons.
4. George Krayem.
5. Richard Williams.
6. James Halloran.
7. Jacob Rosenzweig.
8. James Carson.

The results of tent inspection have been very satisfactory. The Wolves have won so far but the Eagles and Flying Eagles are hot on their trail and it is going to mean the Wolves will have to do some tall hustling to hold their record.

The first Saturday night in camp we put over a "Nut Parade," that is, we all hopped out of our civilized clothes, covered our bodies with clay, then dressed in anything that nature would furnish us, such as leaves, grass, bark, etc. We then hiked around the park, dancing like a bunch of Indians when the Chief halted us alongside a pool and told us to hop in and take our Saturday night bath. Some stunk to pull on us, I'll say.

Our first camp fire of the season was held on Sunday night, July 15th. The fire was built by Patrol Leader Nesslage and after working with it for a while the fire came forth and the opening council fire was a blazing success. The sing-fest and yelling contest left every body in the air as to the superiority of the Wolves, Eagles or Flying Eagles. Following the fire all present were initiated into the "Ancient Order of the Sons of Siam."

With the dawnning, they began rolling in and by noon there was some assemblage of food, curious, and questioning mothers, fathers, friends and others. Without a doubt the first Sunday was a success from every point. After all boys were taken care of in so far as their religious duties were concerned, the day was spent as a "free and easy," however, as on other days every moment was filled with something to do, to see, or to hear.

The next period opens on Sunday, July 22nd and closes on July 28th. It is hoped that this period will be filled by the opening date on next Sunday as plans are being made to make this the banner period. A number of the boys now here will want to stay over. The fee for this period is $9.00, which may be paid at Scout headquarters, 448 Broadway.

Chief Manabozho will be here for the last period and believe me that Indian can sure make things lively at camp.

All hands are praising the food and cooking thus far. The last issue of the Colonial Scout gave a list of articles Scouts should bring. Headquarters will also supply this information over the telephone.

ARRESTED NEGRO RACED IN BORROWED AUTO

Sheriff Kolts on investigation has learned that the auto which Virgil Weldon was driving when arrested by Corporal Alsdorf of the State Troopers in the town of Esopus, Monday, is owned by John H. Simpson of Poughkeepsie, who had placed it for sale in a garage in the Flat Iron building. Weldon is a negro and was given the use of the auto to go to see his mother whom he said was ill. Instead he started for Kingston to go a dance to be held by colored people at Griffith's Hall, Hasbrouck avenue Monday night. While on his way he and another automobilist raced on the highway near Port Ewen and Corporal Alsdorf who timed him going at a forty-mile-an-hour speed, arrested him. The owner of the car has been notified and will come after the auto.

CORNS

A famous foot specialist's new discovery. Stops hurting in one minute. Gets at the cause of corns!

Corns are due to only one cause—friction-pressure. Yet many people continue to risk infection by cutting their corns or using corrosive acids—dangerous methods that do not remove the cause.

Now Dr. Wm. M. Scholl, the eminent foot authority, has perfected Zino-pads—a wholly new treatment which relieves corns, bunions and callouses by removing the cause.

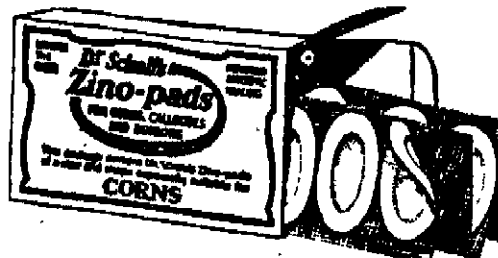

Dr. Scholl's Zino-pads protect the sore spots from pressure and friction while they heal. Thin, antiseptic, waterproof, healing and absolutely safe, they will not injure the tenderest toe!

Studebaker Light-Six
Touring Car

$975

We Want to Talk to Every Prospect Who Plans to Pay More Than $500 for a Car

We want to tell you something about the Studebaker Light-Six Touring Car. Want you to examine it—and to drive it.

Stop in and let us prove what a vast difference there is between the Light-Six and other cars at about the same price—or between the Light-Six and cars of other makes costing several hundred dollars more.

To be able to buy a Six, practically free from vibration, for less than $1,000 is an opportunity not duplicated anywhere in the world. Elimination of vibration adds immeasurably to the life of the motor. It is one of the reasons for the universal high resale value of the Light-Six.

The Touring Car body is all-steel—even to its framework. Seat cushions—of genuine leather—are ten inches deep and are placed at the most restful angle.

The one-piece windshield is handsome and practical because it gives unobstructed view of the road ahead and is rain-proof. The quick-action cowl ventilator and the parking lights are but indications of the quality and completeness of the appointments.

No other make of car ever built, by anyone, at any price, represents so great a dollar-for-dollar value as the Light-Six Touring Car. The savings resulting from large volume, complete manufacture and the fact that Studebaker's overhead is shared by three distinct models make possible its low price and high value.

The Light-Six upholds Studebaker's 71-year reputation for honest value.

GREENISLAND FORD PLANT GROWING

Expected to Become Second Only to Detroit Works in Volume of Production.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Detroit, Mich., July 18.—Requirements of the Ford Motor Company for increased manufacture will bring a rapid expansion of the company's plant at Green Island, N. Y. It is just announced by The Ford News.

When the plant is ready to operate at its full capacity it will take its place as one of the dominant manufacturing institutions of the country, the announcement says, and in the volume of production will be second only to the Detroit plant. A feature will be the employment of farmer help during winter months, permitting them to work on the farms during the summer.

At present production is limited to that of radiators and ring gears, employing 625 men, but this force will be increased as soon as new machinery is installed.

A new department will soon be opened for the manufacture of springs and will give employment to 400 additional men.

Extensive improvement and development of the waterways in the Green Island section also is contemplated by the Ford Motor Company and will include an all-water route to Detroit. The property will be flanked by a massive concrete water front and this dock system will be equipped with cranes and other paraphernalia to be employed in extensive water shipments.

Construction of all new Ford plants on sites with abundant water supply is significant of the part navigation and electrical power will play in the future expansion program of the company.

The Green Island hydro-electric plant, erected in 1921, after the company was granted permission to the company to utilize the power from the dam at Troy, now houses four uniquely designed low-head turbines which are the largest of their type in the world. They operate as "double-current" generators, producing both alternating and direct current. The capacity of the power house is 8,000 horse power.

The plant area at Green Island is 189 acres and the manufacturing building is 120 by 1,100 feet. It is operated exclusively by electricity, even to the heating.

PORT EWEN.

Port Ewen, July 18.—Mrs. Anna Ellings of Broadway, is spending a week at Ocean Grove, N. J.

All members of Hope Temple, No. 80, Pythian Sisters, are asked to contribute an apron for the apron booth at their "barbecue" to be held Friday evening, July 20, in Splinterweber's new garage on Broadway. This is Hope Temple's first attempt to raise funds for their temple.

Miss Minnie Hamilton and Mrs. Charles McBride of Kingston were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hummel on South Broadway.

Henry Deane and son Harry Deane of Broadway are spending a few days at Fall River, Mass. and New Haven, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. John Short of Cottekill, were motor guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alanson H. Short on Main street Sunday.

Miss Rosamond Lampman, who has been the guest of relatives at Rutland, Vt., has returned to her home on Broadway.

Miss Bertha Siebert of Broadway, is spending a week with relatives in Brooklyn and New York city.

John I. Houghtaling of Jersey City, who has been spending a few days with his sister, Mrs. Harry Hummel on South Broadway, has returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lampman and daughter Marian, who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Lampman, Sr. and Arthur Fowler, Sr. on Broadway, have returned to their home at Rutland, Vt. by motor.

All members of the Methodist Church, who are interested in the block party to be held Wednesday, July 25, on Main street between Green street and Broadway, are asked to donate five and ten cent articles for the "Mystery Booth." Kindly leave them at the home of Mrs. Harry Jump on Broadway not later than Monday, the 23rd of July. A generous response is looked for.

Episcopos Council, No. 42, Sons and Daughters of Liberty, will meet this evening in their council room at 8 o'clock. It is hoped there will be a large attendance. Installation of officers will take place at this meeting.

Mid-week prayer service in the Methodist Chapel Thursday evening, at 7:30 o'clock. At 8:30 a rehearsal for the chorus choir, one feature of the block party entertainment. All members of the church and congregation are invited to join the chorus choir.

Alfred Pough of New York city, spent Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Perrine on Broadway.

Up to Papa.

Margery's school reports weren't very good, so her father said: "The first time you get a hundred I'll give you a dollar." Time went by and the reward could not be claimed. Then one day the child was taken ill. When the doctor had gone she asked: "Mamma, am I very sick?" "No, dear, your temperature is a little over a hundred, but the doctor thinks you'll be better tomorrow." Margery's face lighted up. "Then, mamma, I can have my dollar, can't I? Papa said he'd give it to me if I got a hundred in anything."—Boston Transcript.

U. OF T. UPHOLDS ITS PRESIDENT

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Knoxville, Tenn., July 18.—The board of trustees of the University of Tennessee today decided to uphold President H. A. Morgan in the dismissal of seven professors. Only two members—Governor Austin Peay and Molton Smith, of Memphis—were opposed to the motion to fully sustain the administration.

The seven instructors dismissed were: Dr. Jesse W. Sprawls, Dr. John Neal, law; Morris Mulvan, premedical; Dr. Robert S. Radford, Latin and classical archaeology; Dr. Robert S. Ellis, psychology; Asia A. Chaffee, biology and Mrs. A. M. Withers, instructor of fine art.

The trouble which led to the dismissals is said to have arisen from the teaching of evolution in the university.

HURT IN PLANE AT SAUGERTIES

Putnam's Machine Sideslips Into Hay Field and Woman Sustains Brain Concussion—Were on Way to Rochester.

Flying to Rochester in a Curtis aeroplane, J. N. 4, O. 5, U. S. Army type from Mineola, L. I., Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Putnam, a young couple, suffered an accident Tuesday morning when their aeroplane was wrecked in a hay field on the John G. Myers estate at Saugerties.

Employees of the Myers estate extricated the couple from the wreckage and took them to the office of Dr. R. F. Diedling. Mrs. Putnam was semi-conscious, having suffered a concussion of the brain and was bleeding from a scalp wound. Mr. Putnam had a bruised nose and lip. Three stitches were required to sew Mrs. Putnam's wound and she was placed in bed at the doctor's home, where she is resting as comfortably as can be expected.

The machine, a 90 horsepower with a flying capacity of 70 miles an hour, was a total wreck. The engine was salvaged and will be shipped to Mineola for repairs. Vandalism took away nearly all movable parts.

Putnam, a flyer of six months' experience, was following the course of the Hudson river on his way to Rochester, where he was called by the sudden death of his father. Arriving at Saugerties it was discovered that the gas supply was nearly exhausted and it was decided to make a landing. A course northwest was steered and then the plane suddenly made a nose dive, landing in the hay field. After hitting the ground it bounded forward about thirty feet and turned upside down. He attributes the accident to a sideslip as he attempted to land.

WHITE MEETS MITCHELL IN N. Y. TONIGHT

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, July 18.—Fistic lovers expect to see plenty of action tonight when Charley White, the Chicago lightweight, and Ritchie Mitchell, the Milwaukee boxer, clash in a scheduled 15 round bout. The winner will be next in line to battle for the lightweight crown.

In their last meeting White, almost out on his feet, let go a desperate left hook, and knocked out Ritchie.

White said today he would win in five rounds. Mitchell, who arrived here yesterday from Milwaukee, was equally confident he would put out the Chicago fighter.

A Moralist 4,500 Years Ago.

The oldest known book in the Egyptian volume, "The Precepts of Ptah-Hotep." Its date is about 2800 B. C. Ptah-Hotep has been called the father of the whole tribe of moralists. Precepts such as the following have a curiously modern flavor. "Be not of an irritable temper as regards that which happens beside thee; grumble not over thine own affairs. Be not of an irritable temper in regard to thy neighbors; displeasure is a compliment to that which displeases than rudeness. . . . Do not repeat any extravagance of language. . . . Let not thy heart be haughty. . . . Compose thy face even in trouble."

POULTRY

CHICKS NEED GROWING MASH

When One Month Old Use Whole Wheat and Cracked Corn Instead of Scratch Mixture.

When chicks are four weeks of age the following mash may be substituted for the starting mash, the whole wheat and coarser cracked corn being used instead of the scratch mixture of fine cracked corn and cracked wheat: corn meal, 40 pounds; bran, 15 pounds; shorts, 15 pounds; ground barley or ground oats, 10 pounds; meat meal, 15 pounds; bone meal, 5 pounds.

Healthy and Vigorous Chick.

The growing mash should be kept before young pullets at all times until they are ready for the laying house. Three or four pounds of feed are required for the production of one pound of gain, live weight.

The young cockerels should be separated from the pullets when they weigh from 1½ to 2 pounds, and those not needed for breeding stock should be fattened and marketed. Early batched cockerels, marketed early in the season, are usually a better paying proposition than when they are kept until 4 or 5 pounds and sold on a lower market. The young pullet should be given every opportunity to develop, as she needs a vigorous body of strong constitution and vitality for heavy egg production. She will not have it if she is stunted in any manner.—O. C. Ufford, Poultry Department, Colorado Agricultural College.

KEEP ALL POULTRY HEALTHY

Wise Poultryman Keeps House Clean and Well Ventilated—Disinfectant Is Useful.

Every poultry raiser knows that fowls thrive best in clean, well ventilated places. By keeping the houses, roosts, nests and runways sprayed with a concentrated lye solution you will do a great deal toward promoting good health and productiveness among your poultry.

Many of the most successful poultry raisers use this lye solution around their poultry houses at least every other week. The solution is made by dissolving a small can of lye in five gallons of water. A sprinkling can, hand spray, or an old whisk broom may be used to apply the solution.

DON'T FEED FOWLS HEAVILY

Poultry Being Prepared for Shipment Should Not Have Large Amount of Grain.

Don't feed heavily before shipping and expect to get paid for the weight of your feed. Heavy feeding of birds that are accustomed to range causes digestive troubles in shipment, and consequently large shrinkage in weight, to say nothing of off-condition.

POULTRY NOTES

A lazy hen is not a well one.

Turkeys are profitable, but need a lot of care to get them started.

Moving layers from coop to coop frequently checks egg production.

Turkeys can eat almost any kind of feed after they are three months old.

It is common knowledge that hens and pullets should be out of doors as much as possible during the winter.

Ordinarily, a gander may be mated with from one to four geese, although pair or trio matings generally give the best results. Wild ganders seldom mate with more than one goose.

Many breeders find it pays to fatten broilers for a week or ten days on a sloppy mash of sour milks and cornmeal.

Eggs kept for hatching purposes that are not set immediately should be turned at least once a day and they should be handled gently.

Raising early broilers simply means starting the chicks as usual and following with scratch grain and a growing mash until nearly ready for market.

Nature's Wise Provision.

We ought to be thankful to nature for having made those things which are necessary easy to be discovered; while other things that are difficult to be known are not necessary.—Epictetus.

JUST FUN

A WASTED SMILE

"My, my!" said the cashier. "I made an awful mistake today."

"You did?" The vice president looked sympathetic.

"Yes, I met Milt Morrison at the club, told him half a dozen good stories, bought him a cigar and parted with him smiling. I didn't know he was overdrawn."

Auto Suggestion.

Jill—I was at a psychology lecture last night and the speaker talked a lot about auto suggestion. Do you know what that is, Jack?

Jack—I surely do! That is when a fellow calls on a girl, and she speaks of what a wonderful night it would be for a ride.—Cornell Widow.

A Saccharine Mask.

His father came upon little Tim with his face covered with blackberry jam.

"Um! Good!" murmured the youngster with gustatory satisfaction.

"Good!" echoed his father. "How do you know it's good; you're not eating it, you're wearing it."

Will Power.

"I've just been reading about the power of the will. It's a wonderful thing."

"Indeed, yes. I know of a will that makes seven children and twenty-two grandchildren behave themselves."—Dry Goods Economist.

Member Ananias Club.

Uncle—I've just loaned you $20 to help pay your rent, and now I find you in this expensive cafe.

Nephew—Well, uncle, what are you doing here? You told me it was the last cent you had.

Not His Worry.

His Wife—I'll be ready in a minute. Getting impatient?

Mr. Pester—Not at all. Only if you don't hurry those clothes you're putting on will be out of style before you're dressed.

THAT'S DIFFRUNT

"Little boy, don't you know it's wrong to go fishing on Sunday?"

"I ain't goin' fishin'. I'm going home."

The Old Trick.

She complains of a headache. A trick that's not new. Sis is always in pain. With the dishes to do.

Merely His Views.

Do you remember Ben Bolt and Sweet Alice? She wept with delight when he gave her a smile and trembled with fear at his frown.

"That's the way to handle wimmin," declares Uncle Gil Blas.

His Vocation.

The Judge—Your wife complains that you won't work.

Neat Neversweet—Now, she knows that ain't so, Judge. She knows I work hard over every prize contest that's announced in the newspapers.

Business Agreement.

Maywood—Well, thank goodness, there is peace in our suburb.

Forest—What, did you have a war?

Maywood—Yes; the doctor and the garage man both agreed to cut their bills with one another.

Inherent Possibilities.

Customer—I like that umbrella stand, but I don't think it is worth $3.

Salesman—Why, madam, the very first umbrella that is left in it may be worth more than that.

A Long Wait.

Miss Wise—Miss Wry says that she always takes men as she finds them.

Miss Gny—Well, it has taken her long enough to find one!

Perhaps.

"How does a man ever get started as a sword swallower?"

"Eating with his knife, I suppose."

At the Boys' Club.

"Hello, Harry, how's everything?"

"Pretty good. But I'm worried about Europe."—Life.

Badly Mated.

Dauber—I am wedded to my art.

Critter—Who had the nerve to give the bride away?

Not Garrulous.

"They say money talks."

"I have always found it very guarded on the witness stand."

SAFE OFFER

Bilkins had no love for his wife's little pet dog, but one day when it mysteriously disappeared he offered $25 reward for its recovery.

"But I thought," said a friend, "you hated that dog like poison?"

"So I did," replied Bilkins; "I could not bear it!"

"Then why on earth did you offer such a big reward for its return?"

"I like to please my wife."

"Well, that may be, but $25 is sure to bring the dog back!"

"I think not," answered Bilkins, "unless some one saw me bury it in the garden."

Question.

"How would redwood sawdust do to stuff our dolls with?"

"I guess redwood sawdust is as good as any other sawdust."

"There's just one point. Will it scare little girls?"

"Why should it scare little girls?"

"When a doll gets a puncture they may think it is really bleeding."

Logic.

"The Browns have a new car. We ought to get one."

"I don't see why. I know Brown, and I know very well he can't afford to buy a new car this spring."

"That may be. But if he can get a new car he can't afford we can get one we can't afford just as well as he can."

DOWN IN SHADY LANE

Cholly (nervously)—O-o-o-aw—that cow was coming right for me, doncher know!

Miss Cutting—Probably mistook you for her calf.

Don't Do It.

It's foolish and it shows so little sense at trifling things. For you to take offense.

Cheering Thought.

"Cheer up, old man! All things come to those who wait."

"Not a situation; not a position." "Sure they do! You'll find yourself in an unpleasant situation and an embarrassing position if you only wait long enough."

The Main Thing.

Maud—He said he had only a broken heart to offer me.

Maria—Did you accept him in that condition?

Maud—Yes, his bank account was intact.

Those Days Are Gone Forever.

First Cave Woman—I don't believe my husband loves me any more.

Second Ditto—How's that, dearie?

First Cave Woman—He only hit me seven times with his stone club tonight instead of the usual dozen.

Merely Previous.

"Sorry to hear of the gas explosion at your place, Jones. Got blown out of the house into the garden, I hear."

"Yes, but we were starting spring cleaning the next day in any case!"—The Passing Show (London).

Judging From Reports.

"Remember my young friend, that Satan keeps himself busy in this world."

"Well, sir, you can hardly blame him for staying away from home; they say it isn't a very pleasant place."

HIS DADDY'S BOY

The Rent Profiteer—Some day, my son, you might be the president of the United States.

His Son—Shucks! Who wants to be a president of the United States. He ain't got nothin' 'trent 'nobody.

Like Them Quiet.

The giggling girl and crowing hen. We do not mind much now and then. But as a rule we like them quiet; they cloy us as a steady diet.

Progressing.

"How is Newlwyd getting along with his bride?"

"Pretty good. He's reached the stage now where he can think of an excuse she believes."

Mrs. Gadabout in France.

Mrs. Weired—When you were in France I suppose you saw the great tracts of barren waste?

Mrs. Gadabout—Oh, my, yes. He has a wonderful estate.—Chaparral.

Very Good.

"That actress is good as Little Eva."

"Ought to be, sir, she ought to be. She has been playing the part now twenty-five years."

Small Average.

White—What is the death rate in your town?

Gray—About two per motor car.

Mrs. Warren G. Harding

Mrs. Warren G. Harding, whose life was despaired of for a time last winter, but who recovered sufficiently to accompany Mr. Harding on his Alaska trip, became so fatigued from her exertions she was compelled to take of her bed and to cut short all her program of social activities.

Miss Emily O'Neill

Two noted families, already united by intimate ties of friendship, are to be united by closer ties shortly when William H. Vanderbilt, eldest son of Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, who perished on the Lusitania, marries Miss Emily O'Neill, of New York, in London. Mr. Vanderbilt is a nephew of Countess Grecheny, Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, Brigadier-General Countess Vanderbilt and Reginald C. Vanderbilt. His bride-to-be is a niece of Julian Townsend Davies and Mrs. Archibald Gourlay Thacher and a cousin of Bradley Martin.

Here is the most recent portrait of Mrs. Irene Castle Tremain, the noted dancer, whose divorce action in France is still a mystery. The picture was taken in London, where she danced at the Embassy Club. She went to London alone, after having gone on a second, but very brief, honeymoon with her husband, Captain Robert Tremain, wealthy Ithaca (N. Y.) manufacturer. Her divorce proceedings in Paris have never been withdrawn and it is reported the reconciliation lasted only a few days.

PLANE TO CARRY
M.C.A. BLANKETS

A representative of the Aerograph company was in town today and announced the Mutton Hollow landing near the Cherry Hill farm. This will be the landing place of the airplane which will make deliveries and distribute advertising matter for the Ross-Gorman-Rose company on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The plane itself is expected to arrive early tomorrow. No definite schedule has been set up, due to the uncertainty of the operation, but it is intended to make a trip to Glenford Friday, where a bale of blankets will be delivered to the Y. M. C. A.

Most of Thursday the aviator will be flying about the city and near-by country getting the lay of the land and dropping some unique advertising matter from the "Big Store."

ESCAPED CONVICTS
STILL EVADE CAPTURE

Telegraph to The Freeman.
Philadelphia, July 18.—With the whereabouts of six convicts who escaped from the Eastern State penitentiary last Saturday still a mystery, today started a city-wide search for a young woman believed to have smuggled the pistols with which the prisoners held off their guards while making their getaway.

Several days before the sensation broke, the girl, who is described as a young woman, visited one of the men in the cell, according to Col. John C. Groom, newly appointed warden of the penitentiary. It was the last of a series of such visits. The possibility of funds being also passed by the young woman was pointed out by Col. Groom in discussing the affair. These funds, city detectives here were raised by former pals of the prisoners who had retained their liberty only because the prisoners refused to divulge their accomplices' names when arrested following the robbery of a bank messenger.

Col. Groom is working on a report of the entire escape to be forwarded to Governor Pinchot.

RACES IN ST. LOUIS

Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, July 18.—Completion of plans for participation in the international air races at St. Louis, Mo., on October 1, 2 and 3, was announced today by the navy department. Navy pilots will compete in three events: the Pulitzer trophy race on October 3, the Liberty Engine Building trophy race on October 1, and the Merchants' Exchange of St. Louis trophy race on October 2.

WORKMEN'S INSURANCE FUND

Telegraph to The Freeman.
Albany, July 18.—Governor Smith today said Saul Singer and John T. Connolly of New York city, as members of the advisory committee of the state workmen's compensation insurance fund. Mr. Connolly succeeded Philip T. Dodge and is president of the Sherman Square Hotel Company. Mr. Singer was reappointed. He is a member of the firm of Singer Brothers.

PINE GROVE.

Pine Grove, July 18.—Mr. and Mrs. George Spielman and other friends were callers of Miss Mary Spielman on Saturday. Mr. Chester Bell and children of Brooklyn are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Snyder, at Hillside Cottage.

Henry Burton, wife and daughters enjoyed an auto trip to Cairo on Sunday.

Miss Mary A. Spielman is spending an indefinite time with relatives in Kingston.

Mrs. Ida Miller of Saugerties is a guest of Mrs. Harvey Cole.

BEAUTY DOCTORS
MUST CONCEAL CHARMS

Telegraph to The Freeman.
Jersey City, N. J., July 18.—There was deep gloom in beauty parlor circles today. Under a new blue law under contemplation by the municipal commissioners, manicurists and cosmetologists must wear uniforms with long sleeves and abstain from using powder and rouge. The manicurists, owing to the heat, are particularly "up in arms" against long sleeves.

HIGH MORTALITY OF CHICKS

Knowledge, Care and Good Judgment Required to Bring Little Fowls to Maturity.

There is no doubt about the statement that if the mortality among young chicks could be averted and the per cent that dies be brought to maturity, the poultry industry would be one of the largest, if not the largest.

Family of Sturdy Little Chicks, Well Cared For.

In the country. Thousands upon thousands die each year from improper attention to the youngsters after hatching, and thousands fail to hatch from inexperience in handling incubators. To begin with, all eggs should be tested before placing in an incubator or under hens. If this be done only good, strong germ eggs would be used, and those showing defects would be rejected and sent to market for table use. Special attention should be given incubators to see that the thermometer registers just right, and also note that you have the required moisture. Incubators should be started at 101 degrees, 102 second week, and if the hatch is good the thermometer will sometimes go as high as 105 degrees the third week. Those chicks which hatch on the night of the nineteenth day or early on the twentieth will be pretty apt to live, as they were good, strong, 100 per cent fertile eggs. Those that hatch later range in vitality from 50 per cent to 80 per cent. The 100 per cent birds thrive and mature to be standard weight. Those under that die beginning the third day, and sometimes string out for two or three months.

POULTRY SELECTION IS BEST

One of Quickest and Surest Ways of Making Improvement in Flock—Quality Counts.

One of the quickest and surest ways of getting improvement in poultry is through selection. Too many people have quantity, to the exclusion of quality, in mind. If you want increased production, it would be much better to have six producing birds in a pen with a male from a high producing female than to have a breeding pen of 200 females mated to a bunch of males of unknown origin.

VITAMINES FINE FOR LAYERS

Milk and Green Succulent Plant Growths Are Essential for Hens—Sour Milk Also Good.

Laying hens need vitamins, undoubtedly, and other elements which are found in certain specific types of foods such as milk and green succulent plant growths. The use of sour milk has long been recognized as a splendid supplement to the grain and mash. Feed it in open pans, providing free access. If it can be secured at a reasonable price, use semi-solid buttermilk at the rate of 3 to 5 pounds, to 100 hens per day.

POULTRY NOTES

A hungry hen is usually a good layer.

Environment is a great factor in egg production.

Extreme cold and extreme heat alike affect the flow of eggs.

A turkey five months old is as good as raised, but do not be in a hurry about fattening.

No flock of fowls can produce a high average egg yield per year per fowl unless there has been bred into that flock the capacity to use large amounts of food, respond to proper care and environment, and form eggs.

Nearly all the eggs are laid between the hours of nine o'clock in the morning and three o'clock in the afternoon.

The care of the newly hatched chicks is without question the most exacting task that devolves upon the poultryman or poultrywoman.

As the seasons vary, the time when chicks may be put on range will vary also. There is danger of getting the chicks out too early unless well protected.

ART HAS VARIOUS ASPECTS

It is Anything That Looks Like It to Any Person, According to This Writer.

The thing that looks art to a person who thinks that it is art, is art. There are many ways of looking at it from different angles—those of the rich and the poor, the educated and the uneducated, the child and the grownup. Art belongs to everybody who looks for it. There is not a human being who does not admire art. Art and you will be more friendly when you are at peace; when you have no trouble on your mind, no sickness in your family, nothing to worry over, then you can enjoy art. Then art will love you and you in turn will love art.

Art is very wide. Art is not only what you see with your eyes, but it is within your mind also. There are many things beside art objects in art galleries. You may find art almost anywhere, any time, if you have the eye to see it. In your home good housekeeping is art; so are harmonious decorations and the arrangement of flowers; so are cooking, eating, sleeping and dressing; so is talking; so are movements and manners—yes, so is love—there is art in all. You may find a great sculptor in the barber shop or in a tailor shop. A master hand—that is art. No matter where we find it—Matachi Miya in the North American Review.

GOES BACK ON OWN ORDER

British Nobility Started by Proposal of One of Themselves, to Abolish Hereditary Titles.

The introduction into the house of commons by the Hon. Arthur Bonsor of a bill to abolish hereditary titles created more of a sensation because of the social connections of its author than because of its somewhat revolutionary nature. The Hon. Arthur was at one time a page of honor to Queen Victoria, is related to many of the noble families of England and at one time took an active part in English society.

In his earlier political career he was a liberal, but has since become an important member of the labor party. His bill, although it is not the first of its kind with which the British commons has had to deal, was greeted with wild enthusiasm by labor members and great indignation by the Tory members. The Hon. Arthur declares that, although his bill may fail of passage this time, it will become a law before many years.

East Indian Irrigation Project

Three and a half million acres of excellent farm lands, in 14,800 square miles of India's Sutlej valley, will be thrown open to settlers at the completion of the most pretentious irrigation project attempted in India. Assistant Trade Commissioner Spofford, Calcutta, informs the Department of Commerce. During the last 30 years large tracts of waste land in the Punjab have been rendered productive to crops as a result of successful irrigation works, and for the first time in such projects the Indian government is seeing the mistake in neglecting the construction of roads along with that of canals. The government is acquiring necessary road rights to insure adequate provision for the transportation of crops to markets and railways. The whole Sutlej project will probably take nine years for completion.

Facts About Dogs.

A member of the staff of the Paris Museum of Natural History has pointed out that the dog, whose respirations number only twenty-five or thirty a minute, may, in running, acquire a rate of respiration as high as 350 a minute. The effect of this acceleration favors the dissipation of animal heat by evaporation from the pulmonary vesicles.

The dog perspires very little or not at all by the skin, pulmonary taking the place of cutaneous transpiration. It is this fact that enables the dog to pursue its game so long and persistently. Animals of the cat family, on the other hand, do not possess this peculiarity, and for that reason tigers, panthers and lions lie in wait for their prey, but do not pursue it over long distances. The bird possesses pulmonary transpiration in a very high degree.

Latvia Is Not Litvia.

Latvia should not be confused with Lithuania, warns the Commerce Bureau. Since the establishment of the exchange of money orders between the United States and Latvia numerous applications for the issue of orders on Lithuania have been made, and in many cases accepted by postmasters who are misled by the fact that people sometimes designate Lithuania as Litvia, Litava, Lietava or Lieutra. While United States money orders are now paid in Latvia (also known as Lettonia and Lettija), there is yet no money order convention with Lithuania.

Light-Giving Mineral.

The people of Cornwall, in England, aver that at night there may be seen there a faintly shining mineral among the rocks rejected from the mines. That this is not pure imagination on their part has been proved by scientific investigation. A specimen of the mineral autunite, which is also found in Wales, was sent to a scientific body in London for examination of its apparently luminous properties. It was found that it closely resembled artificially prepared salts of uranium, and that its luminosity was due to its spontaneous radioactivity.

Isthmus of Tehuantepec

Cruciform Grave Near Mitla, Tehuantepec.

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.)

The rival of Panama when both regions were dependent on railroads as connecting links between the Atlantic and the Pacific, Mexico's Isthmus of Tehuantepec is not so important now that the canal is in operation. But its well-constructed, standard-gauge railroad is still carrying on its concentrated transcontinental way some of the goods of the world with quickness of shipment the chief consideration and a steamer trip of a thousand or so miles is worth eliminating.

Cortez, conqueror of Mexico, was the first man to have the idea that the Isthmus of Tehuantepec might solve the problem of a passage between the oceans. Even in the midst of his busy life as warrior and governor he attempted to find a way across, and explored the Coatzacoalcos river to its headwaters. He did not find a water passage across the divide, of course, but he realized that some day commerce would pass through this relatively low, narrow region, and he asked the king of Spain for a grant of lands in the Isthmus. The request was granted, and a few years ago his descendants still held the lands.

Baron Alexander von Humboldt, who traveled in Mexico in the beginning of the last century, saw at once the importance of the Isthmus of Tehuantepec and called it "the bridge of the world's commerce."

Half a century ago the first attempts were made to dig a canal, and many railroad schemes were proposed from time to time, including a "ship railway" for the transportation of vessels. The first work on a railroad was undertaken by the Mexican government in 1882, but it was not until 1907 that the Tehuantepec railroad was formally opened, after a succession of failures and after years of unremitting labor.

The road as it now exists is a well constructed line about 120 miles long. It is in fair condition even after years of revolution and instability in Mexico. Salina Cruz, the Pacific terminal, was given excellent modern port facilities by the Diaz regime, and became in fact probably the best port on the Mexican west coast. The latest loading and unloading machinery was installed. Puerto Mexico, at the Atlantic end of the railroad, had in the mouth of the Coatzacoalcos river an excellent natural harbor.

Great Oil Field There.

Along the Coatzacoalcos river is a Mexican oil field rivaling that of Tampico. Derricks pierce the sky on every hand and the bustle about wells, and loading tankers gives an unexpected Yankee touch to his once sleepy tropical region.

Before the days of the pioneer and forest roads, the Coatzacoalcos river (the river of the Winding Snake), emptying into the Gulf of Mexico, was the favored highway, and dug-outs poled by dusky natives carried freight and a few passengers up and down the river and its tributaries. Here and there a narrow mule path trailing away from the banks of the river marked the entrance to some lonely plantation or village. Today, however, the new stands side by side with the old. Fine steel boats run on the river, but the native still poles up and down in his dug-out canoe. Good roads and mule paths have been made from one plantation to another, but the old-time ox carts have not yet been discarded.

The town of Coatzacoalcos, at the mouth of the great river, has undergone the greatest change. Once a veritable fever hole, it is now rapidly being modernized and brought into some semblance of sanitation. Long wharves jut out from the water front, and fireproof warehouses and electric cranes give to the town a business-like appearance.

From Coatzacoalcos the road gradually begins to climb the Cordillera, which divides the gulf slope from that of the Pacific. Much of the route lies through wild and beautiful country, with tall manaca palms (Attalea cohune) and forest trees topping a thickly-lymatted jungle, and here and there a quaint little Indian village on the banks of a shaded, shallow river. The picturesque Matancera canyon, with its rocky chasms, is followed by the Chilvela pass, entered at a height of 735 feet above sea level, the highest point on the Isthmus.

WOMEN JOIN IN THE COUNCIL

Picture an Indian powwow of two hundred years ago. Eradicate the war paint; replace the picturesque feathers with prosaic felt and straw hats; the gleaming tomahawks with those more modern weapons, pens and pencils; the torch-lit wigwam with a two-story frame building, lamp lit; add woman suffrage, and there is the setting of the council meeting of the Six Nations of the Iroquois Confederacy, just closed at the Onondaga reservation in New York.

Femininity has taken its place in the red men's councils, but with this exception rules of procedure for the modern council meeting of the confederacy are the same as the aborigine code that prevailed before the days when Columbus discovered America. Ranking tribes and chiefs are still given preference in the seating arrangements and in order of speaking, while the old unwritten constitution, handed down by word of mouth from generation to generation practically intact, is still in force.

Fierce "northern" rage on the Isthmus the greater part of the year, and the long swell of the Pacific causes a heavy surf. As no natural shelter exists, it was found necessary to build one—an outer refuge harbor, and an inner harbor with dry-dock and wharves.

The country through which the railway runs is in many respects of great interest. The tropical nature, the many different tribes of Indians living along the rivers and in the hills, their peculiar customs and picturesque garb furnish an interesting study.

The different Indians today inhabiting the Isthmus, descendants of once powerful tribes, still show enough distinctive characteristics to enable one to judge of their ancestors. The Agualucos, Aztecs, Huastecs, Mixes, Zapotecs and Zoques are among these.

The Agualucos and Aztecs dwell in the northern part of the Isthmus. Though outwardly conforming to the Catholic religion, they still retain many of their old customs and superstitions. Among these Indians the memory of Dona Marina, or Malinche, as the Indians called her, is still revered. Although acting as interpreter and guide to Cortez, she seems to have been greatly beloved by the Indians.

The Mixes live in the mountains to the west, in the town of San Juan Guichicovi. They are exceedingly ignorant, bold, and rather repulsive in appearance. History classes them as having been at one time the most brutal and idolatrous of all the Isthmus tribes.

The Mixes Covet Mules.

The greatest ambition of a Mixe is to possess more mules than his neighbor. Just why is hard to understand, as they prefer to carry their burdens on their own backs.

They get good crops of maize, beans, and rice from their milpas, which are well taken care of, but they work stupidly, are great drunkards, and very dishonest.

The Zoques, who live in the mountains between the Chilchilpa valley and the Rio del Corte, are, like the Mixes, very fond of tequila, the native alcohol, but more industrious and of a more pleasing appearance.

The Huastec tribe, now dwindled to a thousand or two, live in a few towns on the Pacific coast. They are very different from the other tribes, and claim to be descended from a powerful tribe in Peru.

The Zapotecs, who inhabit the greater part of the southern division of the Isthmus, are hard working, gentle, and intelligent, and at one time were a highly cultured nation.

The various Indian languages are now little else than Spanish dialects placed out with Spanish words and sentences.

Somewhat below medium height, the Indians possess unusual muscular strength. They are often able to carry for several hours on their shoulders, under the rays of the tropical sun, cargoes weighing from 100 to 200 pounds.

The women are gracefully built, and in some tribes remarkably beautiful. This is especially true of the Tehuana women. Their stately carriage, regular features, and beautiful soft brown eyes, added to their fascinating costumes, mark them with distinction and irresistible charm. They wear the usual Indian corte, or enagua derollada (rolled skirt), which is nothing more or less than a straight piece of cotton cloth, generally one meter wide and two meters long, dyed red, blue, purple, or a checked red and white; a short chemise, or cotton, sleeveless and with a low neck, coming just to the waistline. It is made of cotton material in different colors or of velvet, and shows to great advantage the tawny, perfectly formed arms and shoulders. The crowning touch, however, is their headdress. Shaped somewhat like a short Japanese kimono, with a wide flounce of starched and plaited white cotton lace, it is thrown over the head so that the stiffened lace flounce stands out about the face like a fan-shaped frame. The rest of the garment, also, hangs gravely down the back.

Verbal fireworks shot in the guttural Iroquois language, with an occasional English expression adding emphasis, exploded fiercely and furiously throughout the entire session. These were interspersed with impassioned pleas over the proposed suit against the government for land payments and for a quick settlement of factional differences.

The Onondaga tribe was assailed savagely by Mrs. Laura C. Kellogg, one of the leading Indians of the day. She spoke on the disputed matter of whether Livingston Crouse, secretary of the Six Nations, had the power to call the council. The Onondagas claimed that their tribe, through George Thomas, chief keeper of the council fire, had the sole authority to summon the session. The visiting braves supported Crouse, while the Onondagas were lined up behind Thomas. Modern filibustering, she charged, was being practiced by the Onondaga braves to carry their point. "The trouble with the Onondagas," she declared, "is that they have no brains. They cannot see the issue. They cannot see what is best for them. We must decide whether we shall continue to receive their insults. Call for independence."

"Must we continue to defer to an old shell of an Onondaga council? We had a great idea for the organization of our tribes. It was so great that part of it was written into the Constitution of the United States. We have here a golden opportunity for self-government among the tribes, but we do not make use of it. Any white man can come into our reservation and operate us to his gain and our disadvantage."

Chief Chapman Schenobah of the Onondagas endorsed Mrs. Kellogg's statements about the listlessness of the Onondagas and their tendency to retard action of the other tribes. "United we stand; divided we fall," he quoted. It is not necessary to make the Onondagas think that they have "to gee haw" the horse to business. The thirteen original colonies rebelled against the mother country, England. Probably that's what we are doing here. We cannot wait for them. We cannot hang back."

About two hundred delegates attended the council. They included representatives from the St. Regis-Mohawk reservation at Quebec; Oka reservation, Quebec; Green Bay-Ojibwa reservation, Green Bay, Wis.; Algonquin reservation at Muncy, Ontario, Can.; the Allegheny-Seneca reservation, the Caughnawaga reservation, Tonawanda-Seneca reservation, Cattaraugus-Seneca reservation and the Tuscaroras.

NEED WOMEN IN PARLIAMENT

Lady Astor Says Feminine Members Would Raise Standard of Intelligence.

Lady Astor, speaking at a reception in honor of the three women members of the house of commons, paid tribute to the new member of parliament, Mrs. Hilton Phillipson, adding:

"If she does not know much she need not be afraid, for she will find that some of her fellow M. P.'s know less. Before I went to the commons I was appalled at my ignorance, but I soon found others more ignorant than myself."

There was need for "more women, and still more women," in the commons, she declared.

Her opinion was not endorsed by numerous members, who are annoyed at what they believe to be her prohibition tendencies. During a discussion on the beer duties in the house, Lady Astor aroused the anger of the laborite, Arthur Hayday, who suggested that "if she would cultivate her temperance and her manners she would do better."

JUDGES DIVIDE ON JITNEY QUESTION

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Schenectady, N. Y., July 18.—The legal fight over the right of jitneys to operate in this city during the strike of the employees of the Schenectady Railway Company, today found judges lined up on each side. They are Supreme Court Justice Edward M. Angell of Glens Falls, who issued the injunction against the jitneys and County Judge McMullan of Schenectady who vacated it. Answering the attack of Justice Angell on him for vacating the injunction, Judge McMullan announced today that he was entirely within his legal rights. In the meantime the company is continuing to serve the jitney operators with the injunction and the legal question will be threshed in court as soon as one of them is arrested for violating it.

A photograph was taken this morning of the large oil painting which is fastened to the side of the wall on the upper lobby of the court house, at the head of the stairway, by a photographer who came to town with a representative of the Delaware & Hudson Canal Company. The company is celebrating its centenary, having been formed in 1823. The photograph will be placed in the collection of the company and will be reproduced in a book to be published giving a history of the canal and railroad. In the oil painting DeWitt Clinton holds in one hand a document on which is inscribed "An Act Incorporating the D. & H. Co." The company was incorporated by the state of New York, April 23, 1823, a perpetual franchise as a canal and railroad, and coal company being granted by the state of Pennsylvania, March 13, 1823.

The large frame containing the oil painting was taken down and carried to a room nearby where there was sufficient light so that a proper exposure could be made of the painting.

DUTTON FREED FOR LACK OF EVIDENCE

Edward J. Dutton, aged 61, was arrested in Rosendale Tuesday evening by State Troopers and brought to jail and locked up overnight. He was taken to Rosendale for a hearing this morning on a charge of assaulting a two and a half year old girl and was discharged as there was no evidence adduced in any manner substantiating the accusations made against him and on which he was arrested.

Ford Car Hit Pole.
Late Tuesday afternoon a new Ford automobile owned by Lemuel Howard ran into a telephone pole on Wurtz street, near Rogers street, with sad results to the car. It is said that one of the big trucks of F. B. Matthews Company was just turning from Rogers street into Wurtz street, and signaled by blowing, and the driver of the Ford became somewhat confused and headed his car into the pole. The Ford was taken to Millard's garage for repairs.

ANDERSON JURY TO REPORT SOON

Banton Experts Indictment—Large men rally to defense of Anti-Saloon League leader.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, July 18.—Dry forces brought their heaviest guns into play today in the battle of charges and countercharges being waged between District Attorney Banton and William H. Anderson, superintendent of the state anti-saloon league. The Rev. Dr. Robert Bagnell, Harrisburg, Pa., the Rev. James C. Chalmers, Quogue, L. I., and the Rev. C. Arthur Lincoln, Passaic, N. J., presented themselves before Banton to later appear before the grand jury now probing the alleged misuse of $24,700 of the anti-saloon league's funds. The clergymen told Banton they believed they could show the charges of alleged forgery, extortion and grand larceny grew out of personal spite by O. B. Phillips, a former league collector. B. H. Fancher, vice-president of the Fifth Avenue Bank, New York, and Anti-Saloon League treasurer, was expected to appear before Banton with an offer to testify in Anderson's behalf. A report from the jury was expected late today. The prosecutor openly expressed hope of an indictment, although it was reported outside the jury room that several of the investigators were not satisfied with the evidence presented. Anderson issued another statement today, and renewed the charge of "frame-up" in the present investigation, accusing the prosecutor of "willfully suppressing defense testimony."

"I am willing to present all evidence in this case to the grand jury," was Banton's only comment. A report from the jury was expected late today. The prosecutor openly expressed hope of an indictment, although it was reported outside the jury room that several of the investigators were not satisfied with the evidence presented. Anderson issued another statement today, and renewed the charge of "frame-up" in the present investigation, accusing the prosecutor of "willfully suppressing defense testimony."

SEWER EXCAVATION HALTS FAIR STREET TRAFFIC

Trolley Car Through Barricade: Digging Protest.

Traffic was stopped on Fair street between John and North Front streets this morning by reason of excavating for a sewer to connect the Hotel Stayessant with the main sewer which is under Fair street near the Senate House grounds. To dig the tunnel under the trolley track which had been made so that the sewer pipe could be laid to connect with the trench on each side of the track, barricades were placed to stop traffic by Superintendent Darrow of the board of public works. There was an exciting incident for a few minutes when a trolley car of which T. J. Hannon was the motorman, ran through the barricade and over the track above the tunnel, as strenuous objections were made by the workmen engaged on the job. Later the block was closed at John and Fair streets, barriers being placed across the roadway.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, July 18.—Steadiness marked trading at the opening of the stock exchange today. Transactions were in a somewhat large volume, with prices of most issues fractionally higher. U. S. Steel lost  $\frac{1}{4}$  to 90 $\frac{1}{2}$ , while Bethlehem Steel at 46 $\frac{1}{2}$ , Crucible at 54 $\frac{1}{2}$  and American Locomotive at 67 $\frac{1}{2}$  were up  $\frac{1}{4}$  and Laidlaw Locomotive up  $\frac{1}{4}$  to 119 $\frac{1}{2}$ . Utah copper rose  $\frac{1}{4}$  to 88 $\frac{1}{2}$  and Chile Copper  $\frac{1}{4}$  to 26 $\frac{1}{2}$ . Studebaker at 103 $\frac{1}{2}$  and Stromberg Carburetor at 66 $\frac{1}{2}$  were up  $\frac{1}{4}$ . Stewart Warner lost  $\frac{1}{4}$  to 86. California Petroleum was firm, advancing  $\frac{1}{4}$  to 22 $\frac{1}{2}$ . General Asphalt  $\frac{1}{4}$  to 25. Standard Oil of New Jersey,  $\frac{1}{4}$  to 33 $\frac{1}{2}$  while Producers and Refiners yielded  $\frac{1}{4}$  to 35. Railroad stocks opened firm. Baltimore and Ohio advancing  $\frac{1}{4}$  to 43 $\frac{1}{2}$ . Atlantic Coast Line  $\frac{1}{4}$  to 114. Southern Pacific  $\frac{1}{4}$  to 87 and Delaware and Hudson  $\frac{1}{4}$  to 105.

Stocks displayed considerable firmness in the forenoon trading. The feature of the early trading was the strength shown in the copper stocks, Utah rising 2 points to sixty, while other less important issues rose from a fraction to over 1 point. Motor, tire and accessories stocks shared in the upward movement to the extent of one to over two points in the most active issues. Buying of the tire stocks was stimulated by the hardening tendency of the crude rubber market. Oil stocks, although ruling fractionally higher. Improvements in the railroad sections were also limited to fractions. Trading slackened somewhat in the afternoon trading but the undertone remained steady. Prices continued to advance.

BERGDOLL MAY SERVE TIME TO GET HIS MONEY BACK

Mrs. Emma C. Bergdoll of Philadelphia obtained passports Monday to visit Switzerland, where her son, Grover C. Bergdoll, probably the most notorious draft evader of the great war, is living. It is believed she will induce him to come to the United States, and serve his prison sentence because the Bergdolls are said to be getting low and the $130,000 Bergdoll estate, held by the U. S. alien property custodian, will not be returned while Bergdoll is a fugitive from justice, and may be used to satisfy German war claims. If Bergdoll returns and serves his sentence the Bergdolls will get their money back.

Heroes in history seem to us poets because they are simple. But if we should tell the simple truth of some of our neighbors, it would sound like poetry.—G. W. Ogden.

THIS DOG'S LIFE IS HAPPY ONE

Literally speaking, a "dog's life" is not half as bad as it sounds. For instance, when a member of the canine realm announces his intention of setting up a world's record in motor traveling he's starting something. Jack, a Sealyham terrier, belonging to Mrs. Charles Rowden of Lamington Spa, England, here seen, unstrapped, in his little side-car on the running board, is the lucky dog who is trying to establish a canine motoring record. Already he has accompanied his mistress on runs totaling 8,000 miles.

ABUSE OF BRAKE WEARS OUT AUTO

Arrangement Shown for Temporary Storage of Auto.

The illustration shows an arrangement used by a resident of Washington for the temporary storage of an automobile until a garage could be built. A seven-foot section of the backyard fence is removed and a recess, fourteen feet long, built in the fence, which is, perhaps, most advisable because the section of the fence cut out can then be used; or it may be built of laticework, as shown in the foreground, and vines planted around it, which would be the more decorative method. A strong chain is fastened securely around a corner post on one side of the entrance, and equipped with a heavy padlock that can be snapped in an eyeholt fastened to the opposite corner post. If the recess is used during winter it should be provided with a light roof to keep off the snow.—G. A. Liders, Washington, in Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Good Driver Gauges His Speed in Heavy Traffic and Uses Horn Intelligently.
It is a well known fact, frequently commented on, that the American car owner drives too much with his brakes. Every time you hear a traffic officer's whistle in a large city, you hear at the same time a shrieking of brakes and a scraping of tires on the dry pavement, writes H. W. Henry in the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Let it be said to the credit of the car manufacturers that the brakes are actually built so mechanically sound that, in spite of the abuse to which they are subjected, they stand up under the strain. Fast driving between short city blocks, followed by a sudden jamming on of the brakes, is expensive, both in the wear and tear on the tires, the hurrying out of the brake lining and damage to the brakes and other mechanical parts of the car.

Brakes Have Important Purpose.
There is no question at all that brakes are extremely important for the purpose for which they were built, but simply because they are efficient and reliable is little reason for their abuse—abuse which results in damage to other parts of the car's mechanism. The relation between the use of the horn and the use of the brakes is simply this—greater use of the horn would make less use and abuse of the brakes. In other words, sound your horn and keep going.

The better the driver, the less he touches his brakes. Note any day how a particularly good driver goes through the congested districts of a large city. He gauges every traffic stop ahead, and slows down or speeds accordingly. Frequently in driving outside the business center of the city, it is a case of jamming on the brakes or sounding the horn. Sounding the horn a half block before reaching an intersecting street will eliminate the necessity of jamming on the brakes, coming to a dead halt and then speeding on again.

Usefulness of Horn.

Too often an automobile driver sounds his horn when nearly on top of pedestrians, and then it is almost useless, because he has waited so long that he must at the same time jam on his brakes. In fact, the hand movement for the horn and jamming on of the brakes is almost simultaneous, thereby defeating the purpose of the horn. The horn should not only be sounded to warn pedestrians and automobile drivers, but likewise, in night driving, to warn the car ahead. It should be sounded at all times in backing out of a garage. It should be sounded at every turn in a road. You can make no mistake in sounding your horn frequently. Use your horn every day in every way—more frequently.

The vital part that spark plugs play in good engine performance is just beginning to be realized.

The brakes should not be applied suddenly—never hard enough to slide the wheels on the road.

It is a good plan to save the oil drained from the crankcase. You will find many uses for it about the car.

Operating the engine without sufficient water or with no water at all may result in injury to the spark plugs.

FILIPINOS BACK IN WOOD CABINET

But Quezon's Influence Is Feared—
He Advocates Policy of Non-Cooperation.
By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Manila, P. I., July 18.—The sub-secretaries of the various cabinet officers who resigned in a body as a protest against alleged undue interference on the part of Governor-general Leonard Wood in the conduct of their office, met today and agreed to serve

It is feared, however, that Manuel Quezon, president of the senate, leader in the dissatisfaction against Governor Wood, will bring pressure to bear on the sub-secretaries with a view of having all Filipino government employes resign in accordance with his policy of non-cooperation.
